WHOLE NUMBER 632

Kentucky News Cullings

An epitome of the most important events transpiring throughout the state

Frankfort—Governor Morrow offered $200 reward for the arrest and conviction of John Grigsby, who killed Wes Godey in Perry County April 24, 1922.

Maysville—For the first time women served as election officers in the registration of voters, and proved more efficient than men. Little interest was taken in the registration.

Lexington—Mrs. Millard Parthing, of Shearer Station, near Richmond, Ky., was drowned at Boonshoro Beach when an automobile which she was attempting to learn to drive got away and her control and plunged into the Kentucky river.

Frankfort—The latest government census reports 635 bituminous coal mines in Kentucky. In 1919 they employed 39,769 wage earners, who received $45,615,833 for their services during the year. Capital invested in the industry amounted to $137,809,306.

Bardwell—A petition is in circulation asking the County Court to call a special election to take the sense of the voters of the county on the question of a bond issue for building hard surface roads. In Carlisle, County, Warm support is being lent by the citizens and interest in the question is keen.

Frankfort—The state indebtedness, as represented in outstanding warrants at the close of business September 30, was $4,146,718.11, according to a report made by State Auditor John J. Craig. This represents an increase of $500,372 over the August 31 report. This increase, according to the auditor, is due to payments made to the schools of the state.

Mt. Sterling—The Louisville Gas, Electric Company has begun taking leases in the Virden field of Powell County where three gas wells of nearly four million feet of gas daily capacity were brought in recently. It is said the Louisville company will begin drilling the territory at once. Cincinnati and Indianapolis parties also are said to be interested.

Fulton—J. E. Cunningham, who has served as county agent in Fulton County for two years, has resigned his position to accept the office of county agent in Montgomery County, Ohio, with headquarters at Dayton. His new position pays a salary of $4,000 a year, and the farm bureau has a membership of 1,700. His successor in Fulton County has not been named.

Whitesburg—Stanley Stanley, 25, was perhaps fatally shot and wounded near the Dickinson County, Virginia, border east of here in a peculiar manner. Robert Stanley, his cousin, it is reported returned from a ball and was shooting in an adjoining room, not realizing that his relative was sleeping in an adjacent room. One of the shots entered the sleeping man's body.

Madisonville—Robert Lee Cardwell, wealthy young farmer, of this county, was fined $300 and sentenced to thirty days in jail here, following his conviction in County Court on a charge of having liquor in his possession for the purpose of sale. Officers claim Cardwell took liquor to a well-known bootlegger rendezvous and that it was later sold to two negroes. Cardwell appealed the case and was released under $300 bond.

Bardwell—J. W. Geveden narrowly escaped death or serious injury when he was driving his automobile across the railroad tracks near here and killed his engine just as the front part of the car was on the track while a train was approaching rapidly. The train tore the radiator from the car and smashed into the front wheels. The rear end of the car was not damaged. Mr. Geveden suffered only from the shaking up when he was thrown back into the seat when the impact occurred.

Cunningham—Mrs. Cassie Moyers, of near Cunningham, has the unique distinction of starting back to school at the age of 50. Mrs. Cunningham was left a widow with several children and the management of a farm on her hands. She knew nothing about running a farm, and now she has entered the Cunningham High School, to take a course in agriculture. In addition to the farm course, she is enrolled for the regular high school course, and has stated that she intends to complete the four years of work.

Hazard—A man about 20 years old, believed to be William Newberry, of Hazard, was lustily killed when he attempted to board a moving freight train. The body was not discovered until the entire train had passed over it.

Frankfort—The surface of Grayson County is essentially that of a moderately up-lifted plain or plateau, with a few isolated knobs reaching an elevation of about 800 feet, according to the report of the Kentucky Geological Survey.

Frankfort—Whisky in hauled warehouses was assessed at $40 a barrel by the State Tax Commission, which is a reduction of $20 a barrel from last year.

Whitesburg—A long coal train was wrecked just below Mayking, in this county, demoralizing the main line track for a considerable distance. All passenger and freight trains were delayed six hours or more. Lexington and Louisville trains were delayed.

Bardwell—An apple weighing one pound and two ounces, and measuring 1 1/2 inches in circumference was grown by W. N. Bard, who is displaying some apples of a new variety of winesaps. Mr. Bard is developing a splendid orchard in Western Kentucky.

Paden—In the appendix removed from Miss Elizabeth Noonan, of this city, surgeons at Riverside Hospital who operated found an ordinary pin. The appendix was difficult to remove, and surgeons found that the point of the pin was protruding. The patient is recovering.

Lexington—Declaring that it was impossible to raise the entire $7,500,000 assessment increase on personal tangible property which has been required by the State Tax Commission, the Fayette County Tax Commission adjourned after two days of almost continuous session.

Danville—The cause of the failure of the Peoples' Bank and Trust Company of Perryville, which concerned its doors, is attributed to excessive loans which brought about deficiency in revenue. The bank had a capital of $40,000 and a reserve of the same sum. Deposits totaled $309,000 and loans $475,000.

Versailles—The 4 or 5-month-old baby boy abandoned in the yard of Gentry McCauley, on Morgan street, and found by Night Chief of Police John H. Edgar, was officially adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, of Woodford County, who lives twelve miles from here on the Oregon pike. Mr. Andrews is a farmer and the two are childless.

Whitesburg—Henry Stewart, a farmer, of near Shelby Gap, east of here on the Pike County border, died at the Jenkins Hospital in Jenkins, where he was taken after receiving wounds of an accidental nature. Stewart was carelessly handling a revolver when it was discharged. The charge penetrated the abdomen. He leaves a wife and several children.

Whitesburg—The grand jury, which has just closed its investigations at Vice, in Vice County, Va., east of here, has returned indictments against Town Hall, Clark Day, and John H. Collins, the last named a prohibition officer of this city, for the murder in October of Steve Ison, a son of George Ison, which occurred in the Cumberland Mountains, just beyond the state border, in Wise County.

Frankfort—Announcement was made by the State Tax Commission that it would not accept the assessment made by the State Board of Supervisors of Fayette County, which $3,500,000 short of the $10,000,000 increase ordered by the commission. The Board of Supervisors of Fayette County, after making the $6,500,000 increase, urged the State Tax Commission at a hearing here to promise on the increase.

Frankfort—Evidence obtained in an illegal search and seizure is admissible, Judge W. Rogers Clay, the Court of Appeals held, in reversing the judgment of the Fayette County Court in the case of Nannie I. against the commonwealth. The woman was indicted on the charge of illegally possessing intoxicating liquors, and on conviction was fined $100, given 30 days' jail and put under a $1,000 peace bond.

Monticello—At Mill Springs, Robert Decker, 40 years old, killed his brother, Jake, 50, it is alleged, by shooting him four times with a shotgun loaded with buck. Jake had been living on Bob's place and had recently moved away. Bob now claimed that he took the property which belonged to him. He was standing in his yard and Bob was in the road about twenty-five feet away when the shooting began. Jake was unarmed.

Frankfort—Jerry Bixler, superintendent of the Old Judge Distillery, and seven others, charged with removing fourteen barrels of whisky from the distillery, were indicted by the Federal Court. The whisky was located by federal prohibition officers, buried in a barn on the farm of Carl Terhune, who lives in the vicinity of the distillery. Others indicted on the charge of being implicated in the removal of the whisky were: Carl and William G. Terhune, Dave Clark, Andy Settle, Tom Barnes, W. K. Nunnally, Artie Stewart, Charles Shulton, John Hampton, Sam Peters and Curtis Sheets.

Ashland—Fire in the wholesale district destroyed the buildings and stocks of Crump & Field, wholesale grocers, and the Can House-Adams Company, mill supplies and feed, with a loss estimated at near half a million dollars.

Madisonville—An oil well with an estimated production of from 500 to 1,000 barrels daily was brought in by the Linton Oil Pool Association of Linton, Indiana, on the farm of Dink Williams, eight miles south-east of Madisonville.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

Mr. Clarke Will Work for the League

Ever since the plan for the League of Nations was laid before the world John Heston Clarke of Ohio has been one of its warmest advocates. So convinced is he that the United States should be a member of that league that he has resigned from the high position of associate justice of the Supreme court to speak and write for the cause. Talking recently with an interviewer, he said:

"I believe that the future of the United States depends upon our entrance into the League of Nations. From a moral standpoint, and from political and business considerations, we are gravely in error to stand aloof. Reservations may or may not be necessary. The main thing is to join the league. And I wish to devote a large part of my time to an effort to persuade the American public that this is the right viewpoint."

Mr. Clarke was born in Lisbon, Ohio, and took an A. M. degree from Western Reserve University in 1877. He is a bachelor. He is a newspaper man to the extent of owning stock in the Vindicator at Youngstown, Ohio. For years he was a corporation lawyer, and represented, among others, half a dozen railroads. Then he was made a federal judge in the Northern District of Ohio (the third busiest district in the United States) in 1914. It was on July 14, 1916, that he became, by President Wilson's appointment, an associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States.

Wants to Impeach Attorney General

No one who knows Representative Oscar E. Keller of Minnesota and his political history was surprised when he took the lead in the movement to impeach Attorney General Daugherty for that official's action in obtaining the temporary injunction against the striking railway shopmen and also for his alleged failure to enforce the anti-trust laws. Mr. Keller in large measure owes his presence in the house of representatives to organized labor, although he is classified as a Republican member, with the prefix "Independent." Quoting from the official sketch of Mr. Keller in the Congressional Directory: "When the late Congressman Carl C. Van Dyke died, an old-fashioned convention was held to nominate candidates for the special election; Mr. Keller lost the Republican nomination in the convention, but was persuaded to accept the nomination of the Independent party."

He was elected to a very spirited campaign, and after a very close contest, he was elected to the house of representatives by a large majority. Frank P. Walsh, counsel for labor in the prosecution and of Samuel Untermyer, and then, to his surprise and disgust, retracked the whole matter until the

Is Not Discouraged

John S. Sumner, who succeeded the late Anthony Comstock as head of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, has by his activities stirred up a considerable reaction against censorship, and among the liberal minded there was rejoicing when he lost his case against a New York publisher whose arrest he caused for the sale of three books, "Women in Love," "A Young Girl's Diary" and "Cannova's Homecoming." The publisher has sued Mr. Sumner for $10,000 damages. But Mr. Sumner is undismayed. "As to the threats which have been made from time to time to smother me and the society with damage suits, we pay no attention whatever to them," said he. "We will continue to ask for prosecutions in all cases where we believe that it appears plainly that the law has been violated."

"The society has so far this year magazine publishers because of obscene contents has been obtained for selling or possession of this year obtained any convictions, but we did last year."

Queen of Beauty Young Columbus Girl

Out of more than 500 amateur and professional beauties, including fifty-eight civic beauties from all parts of the United States and two from Canada, Miss Catherine Campbell of Columbus, O., was selected as the most beautiful. Therefore she was crowned queen of the Atlantic City national beauty tournament and proclaimed the "Miss America" of the year of 1922. She is only sixteen years old and has just entered the Ohio State university.

Cotes Phillips, whose girl types have adorned the covers of many magazines and who was a member of the board of judges, said that the selection of Miss Campbell, by six of the eight experts, means the inauguration of a new type of American girl. "Years ago there was the 'Gibson girl,'" he said. "The last few years the American ideal has been of two types, either the Flo Ziegfeld type, both tall and so on, or the Mary Pickford type. Neither of these girls typifies the American girl. Her type is the rather tall girl, with broad shoulders for swimming, a clear eye and clear, intelligent face. Measurements really mean nothing."

The description seems typified in Miss Campbell. She has a pink and white complexion, long, wavy brown hair, with auburn tints, and brown eyes. She is 5 feet 6 inches tall, wears No. 5 gloves, No. 3 slippers and her proportions, according to judges in the tournament, approach perfection.

PREPARE MUTTON APPETIZING WAY

New Dishes Have Been Tested by Department of Agriculture for Use of Housewife.

ACID FLAVOR IS INTRODUCED

Suggestions Given From Recipes Originating Among Turks, Armenians and Syrians, Experts in Preparing Palatable Dishes.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

New ways of using lamb and mutton in preparing appetizing meat dishes have been tested by the United States Department of Agriculture and are suggested for the use of the housewife. These have been suggested by recipes originating among the Turks, Armenians, and Syrians, who for generations have been expert in ways of preparing palatable dishes from mutton and lamb. In most of these dishes, some tart vegetable or fruit is combined with the meat to give the acid flavor which is generally liked with lamb or mutton and which in ordinary household practice is introduced by the use of such things as mint sauce, caper sauce, and currant jelly. For example, a typical Turkish dish is "Sarhna" or rolls made of meat and broken rice, wrapped in grape leaves and then boiled, the grape leaves giving the rolls an appetizing wild acid taste. The same idea is made use of in the following recipes:

Mutton Baked With Rice and Tart Apples.

Mix chopped mutton with rice; line a baking dish with sliced tart apples; put the mixture of meat and rice in this; cover it with water; and bake until the rice is cooked.

Cabbage-Leaf Roll.
1 cupful raw 1/4 teaspoonful pepper, chopped mutton, per.
2 table spoonfuls 1 head cabbage, fat.
1-2 cupful rice. 2 teaspoonfuls salt.

Put cabbage leaves of suitable size into boiling water and let them stand until they are wilted. Mix the remaining ingredients (with the exception of the lemon) and form into rolls, each containing one tablespoonful of the mixture. Wrap each roll in a cabbage leaf, after removing the thicker part of the stem in order to make it roll well. Pack these rolls closely into a baking dish and cover with water or stock. Bake for one-half hour. Just before serving squeeze the juice of the lemon over the rolls.

Eggplant and Mutton Pie.

Put equal amounts of sliced eggplant and chopped mutton or lamb fried in its own fat, together in alternate layers in a baking pan, cover with water and bake until well browned. Some prefer the addition of a little tomato juice or a few sliced tomatoes.

Fruit and Mutton Stew.

Fresh or dried quinces, sour apples, pears, apricots, or prunes may be used in with lamb or mutton in this dish. The fruit and meat are cooked separately and then combined.

Stew the fruit in a small amount of water. Cut the meat in small pieces; brown it in a frying pan; when brown cover it with salted water and cook tender as for ordinary stew; add the fruit and cook for a few minutes; and serve hot. This dish may be served with plain boiled rice and brown gravy.

Baked Mutton With Apples.

Cut a large slice of mutton or lamb from the top of the leg near the loin, cover it with thinly sliced sour apples and finely chopped onions; and bake in the oven until the meat is tender. Other tart fruit may be used in place of the apples.

Stew Syrian Style.
2 cupfuls of meat 2 onions, cut into small 2 cupfuls of tomato cubes, 1 tea.
2 cupfuls of string 1/2 flour, beans. Salt.

When making a pudding or cake with a wooden spoon, beat the mixture with the back of the spoon. It is far easier, and becomes beautifully light in half the usual time.

DISH DRAINER HAS SUPERSEDED INSANITARY TOWEL IN KITCHEN

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Perhaps no time spent in housework is more begrudged by the housekeeper than that spent in washing and wiping dishes. A dish drainer not only saves time and labor, but it does away with the too often insanitary dish towel.

After the dishes are washed they are stacked in the racks and scalded with hot running water. The pan catches the drip, and the dishes, upon standing, dry clean and flutless. If the drainer is used on the drain board of a sink, a small hole can be made in the pan and the drip drained immediately into the sink.

Dredge the meat in flour and brown in fat; add the string beans, onions, and tomatoes; season with salt; add water enough to cover; and cook slowly until the meat is tender.

Turkish Stuffed Tomatoes.
1/2 lb. raw mutton, salt.
2 table spoonfuls of chopped parsley, cooked rice, 1/2 smooth, round tomatoes.
2 onions, Pepper.

Put the meat, rice, and onions through a meat grinder; season with salt, pepper, and chopped parsley; fry in a frying pan for 10 minutes, stirring constantly. Wash the tomatoes; cut a thin slice from the stem end, leaving a little of the skin for a hinge; remove the seeds and pulp; and fill with the meat mixture. Bake these in a pan for 20 minutes; lift out of the pan with a broad knife; and serve hot.

NO PROTECTION FROM TOXINS

Safety Cannot Be Depended on From Food Poisoning by Use of Canning Powders.

Canning powders cannot be depended on for safety from food poisoning, according to the bureau of chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Extensive experiments recently conducted to test the claims made by certain widely advertised and distributed canning powders, which consisted mainly of 95 per cent boracic acid, with 5 per cent of salt added, have shown conclusively that the antiseptic properties of the powder only affect a few molds and microorganisms which are not responsible for spoilage in properly processed cans or jars.

Fruits and other acid products properly packed when fresh and in good condition keep without any canning preparations. Much larger amounts of canning powder than those recommended on the packages had no effect whatever on the growth of spore-forming bacilli, which do not require free oxygen for growth, particularly the toxin forming bacillus botulinus, which has recently been responsible for many deaths.

USE VEGETABLES AND FRUITS

Useful in Supplying Mineral Substances and Bulk in Diet Without Increasing Protein.

Vegetables and fruits, says the United States Department of Agriculture, are useful in supplying mineral substances and bulk in the diet without increasing protein and fuel. Practically all of them are rich sources of one or more vitamins. The green-leafed vegetables are believed to be especially valuable sources of vitamin A, and oranges, lemons and tomatoes of vitamin C.

OF INTEREST TO THE HOUSEWIFE

A bit of butter added to the icing will enhance its flavor.

There are lace petticoat ruffles in the shops all ready to sew on a muslin foundation.

Organdie makes a very attractive pillow cover for a young girl's room. Use two shades of organdie.

Sausage and parsley go well together. Around a center of fried parsley arrange a border of small sausages.

A tough chicken can be made as tender as a young one by steaming for three hours before roasting or frying.

A frame on which to allow cakes to cool, after baking, can be made from two-quilt netting nailed onto a square made from four pieces of wood.

When making a pudding or cake with a wooden spoon, beat the mixture with the back of the spoon. It is far easier, and becomes beautifully light in half the usual time.

THE LAST GOLDEN ROD

"Hello, Mr. Wind," said Miss Golden Rod. "I am the last Golden Rod flower of the season, I think."

"I believe you are," said Mr. Wind. "It is very late in the fall for any of the members of your family to be about. Very late."

"But it is nice to see you. I am ever so fond of your family, Golden Rod."

"I think you're one of the nicest of all the nice flower families."

"How kind you are, Mr. Wind, and I can tell you, I do appreciate your kind words."

"I mean them, I mean them," said Mr. Wind decidedly. And the leaves and grass and even Miss Golden Rod herself nodded and said:

"Mr. Wind means what he says."

"I've been hearing of the Fleur-de-lis which is the national flower of France," said Mr. Wind. "You know it is the Iris flower."

"It used to be called Fleur-de-Louis, meaning the flower of Louis, who was one of their rulers in the old days. A fleur is the same as a flower—it is the French word for flower."

"There is quite a story about it, and as I know you like to hear about flowers, I will tell you this story."

"Do," said Miss Golden Rod.

"Iris," said Mr. Wind, "was a messenger of the old Greek gods. They had a birthday party to which all the flowers were invited, and three sisters came beautifully gowned in purple, yellow and red. Their colors were the colors of the rainbow, and the rainbow was dedicated to Iris."

"Oh yes, there are many, many stories of Iris! The flower has been much used in Egyptian carvings, and, too, it has been used for perfumes and oils. It is said that a powder made from its roots was part of a mixture used for broken bones!"

"And another story about it is that it was supposed to be good for bites from snakes!"

"But, though the Iris or Fleur-de-lis has so many stories about her, I am fonder of our own lovely Golden Rod."

"How happy that makes me," said Miss Golden Rod.

"I am very devoted to the country here. That is why I cannot bear to leave."

"I should have gone some time ago, but I just couldn't go. My flower trunk was packed and ready to give to the Flower Expressman who would scatter the seeds about, but I couldn't bear to leave, so I told you."

"But, Mr. Wind, you are laughing. Pray tell me why you are laughing? Have I said anything funny?"

"No," said Mr. Wind. "It was laughing about something funny that I heard today."

"Someone said how helpful I was in drying the clothes that were out on the line."

"Yes," someone said, "the Wind is very helpful. He is a fine dry wind, and he is just tucking the clothes dry in no time at all. He is such a help."

"Then someone else said: 'I really don't know what I would do if it weren't for the Wind to help me with my washing. He doesn't exactly help with the washing itself, but the washing is finished much sooner because he helps with the drying.'"

"Oh, I really do not know what I would do without Mr. Wind. I do not know at all."

"And then someone else said: 'I can't see how Mr. Wind is so much of a help in the washing and drying. He hasn't any hands. How can he help wash and dry clothes?'"

"Well, I laughed then and I laugh now to think of myself with hands. Fancy the wind blowing about with a pair of hands to look after."

"It is ridiculous. It did make me laugh."

"But the first two who had spoken explained to the third person (who very evidently knew absolutely nothing about washing and drying) what a help I was in blowing and drying without hands. And now I must be about my work, but how glad I am to have seen you again, dear, bright Miss Golden Rod."

And Miss Golden Rod smiled brightly and happily.

The Last in the Deck.
I understand he's been married and divorced three times.
"Yes, and I'm told he's now trying to draw the fourth queen."

Thought for the Day.
It is good to be great, but it is ever-lasting great to be good.

SPECIAL SESSION OF CONGRESS.

President Harding has announced that he will call a special session of Congress on November 20 to pass the ship subsidy bill. Something has to be done for the poor ship owners at once. It is too important to wait till the regular session of Congress on the first Monday in December, but must needs be a special session days before that time. There is not money to pay the soldier boys a bonus now, and they are able to wait, but the poor ship owners can not wait to get pay from the government in addition to the freight rates they charge the consumer. Perhaps, though, after the elections in November the Republicans will not be so insistent about giving this graft to the ship owners, unless, perchance, they are obligated in pre-election contracts for campaign expenses.

CO-OPERATIVE MARKETING.

The success that has attended the marketing of the pooled tobacco crop in Kentucky should cause the farmer to consider the extension of co-operative marketing. If joint action prevents the trusts from setting the price of tobacco, why can not wheat and corn be marketed in the same manner? The citrus fruit growers of the south were at the mercy of the organized buyers until they began the co-operative marketing, and now they fix their prices. Until the farmers learn to market their farm products co-operatively the grain exchanges will continue to fix the prices.

WATER WORKS.

Our neighbor, Jackson, has decided to submit a bond issue of $32,500.00 to the voters of the town to put in municipal water works. We hope that it will succeed. West Liberty is hardly large enough to put in municipal water works, but a privately owned plant would pay something more than running expenses, and insurance rates would be reduced so much that the saving would amount to several thousand dollars each year. We ought to organize and put in water works.

While Congress is in the Subsidy mood we offer a suggestion that country newspapers be allowed a subsidy. It is a matter of common knowledge that it is a difficult task to make a country newspaper pay, and it is also recognized that they are a necessity, so there is just as much reason for a subsidy for country papers as for the ships. If, with their superior equipment the city fellows can underbid us, then why not grant us a subsidy? If the ship subsidy is for the reason that our ship owners can not compete with foreign ship owners, then are we not entitled to a subsidy because we can't compete with the big printers? Country merchants do not patronize their home papers as they do in the cities, and we need an advertising subsidy. If our advertising rate is 25 cents per inch the government should pay us an additional 25 cents for each inch we carry. Then it should put up an equal amount for all the subscription and job work money that comes in. As a matter of fact, if the country newspapers are granted a subsidy, other lines of businesses will want subsidies also, but we contend that only the poor country newspaper men and the poor ship owners are entitled to it. Ours are the two necessary businesses that must be kept going, and no others need apply.

We suppose that the reason why the Republicans put off passing the ship subsidy until after the election was that they wanted to see how the people were going to accept the tariff law. Putting over two such raw deals as the Fordney-McCumber tariff and the ship subsidy at the same time was too much for even the hardened tools of the big interests, but, the chances are that the next Congress will be Democratic, and unless they put the subsidy robbery over at the short session it will never become a law. It is undisguised robbery.

The building of the road from Mt. Sterling to Paintsville will benefit every person in the county. Because you are not directly on the road is not a good reason for being against the bonds. This road will be only the forerunner of other roads, and in a short time there will be good roads as a rule rather than as the exception, as at present. There has to be a first road.

It is not fair to put the blame of the Harding administration on Columbus. No doubt the old fellow would have turned back before discovering America if he could have foreseen this wonderful "normalcy" stunt.

The Courier-Journal's "Wild Wave" columnist is rather too suggestive in asking if Secretary Hoover's illness is connected with his task of defending the Harding administration. Well, oughtn't it?

Now that the base ball season is over and the racing time will soon be over, we suggest that the Courier-Journal put the Kaiser's "Memoirs" on the sport page.

We have a big editorial "on our chest," but we are waiting until the Normal School Commission makes a final decision as to the location of the eastern school.

But regardless of every thing else, we all want to come out December 2 and vote for the road bonds.

Oiling rivers to keep down fogs may be a new idea, but oiling public officials to keep up a fog is an old one.

"Well," says the esteemed Republican contemporary, the Ohio State Journal, "we see we Republicans have already cut down the number of Government employees from 438,037 at the end of the last fiscal year before we entered the war to 390,000 at present." This is one of the "details" which President Harding forgot to mention in his letter to the American people, kindred of Mr. Mondell.—Courier-Journal.

Pardoning T. B. Threlkeld, who murdered a youth in Nicholasville and was sentenced for life. Governor Morrow says: "This man, with such a life, black of him, after he had reached the whitened snow of winter, could not, in my judgment, be a murderer." Very poor judgment, in view of the fact that proof is plain that he committed a murder, and a peculiarly and shockingly atrocious murder.—Courier-Journal.

Fortunately, the near east is far away. We don't have to plunge.

Given under my hand this the 27th day of September, 1922.

FRED GANTRELL.

A MORGAN COUNTY MAN.

Liberty Road, Ky., Oct. 16, 1922.

Editor Courier:

On Tuesday, November 7, we will have to choose between two men to represent us in Congress for the next two years. One of the men running, J. H. Stricklin, is a Morgan county man, a farmer and a lumberman, and a man of high character, and has the ability and energy, and would have our interests at heart. He is a public spirited man and gives of his means to advance the interests of the county. He contributed $750 to the fund to secure the normal school and did it willingly. Should we allow partisan prejudice to cause us to cast our votes against our countyman and neighbor?

If John Stricklin is elected to Congress he will be a power with the present administration and can get something for Morgan county. What has Morgan got to show for its big majorities given to Mr. Fields? Is it not about time that we begin to vote for our own citizens if we expect to be benefited by our Congressmen?

We can't hurt anything by voting for our countyman and neighbor, John Stricklin, so let's do it.

D. M. Rowland, of Dlagans, was in town on business Monday.

Nell, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cole, is sick this week. Last week she was in her father's truck and some trunks fell on her foot, and it is from the bruises that she is suffering.

Mrs. Susan Lykins and Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Hopkins, of Happy, and Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Davis and Mrs. Hugh Alford, of Canal City, motored over from the latter place and spent Sunday afternoon with Prof. and Mrs. S. H. McGuire.

James Drake, J. C. Liden, Wm. Cundiff and Mrs. J. R. Carroll, of Campton, were here Saturday as witnesses in a habeas corpus case before Judge Henry.

Dr. C. C. Burton is planning to erect a brick building on his lot on Main street and will put in a stock of drugs.

Buell Horton, of Ashland, returned home after a pleasant visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Horton, who are temporarily located at the Cole Hotel.

FOR SALE—Beautiful suburban home, just outside of city limits of Winchester, Ky., in the best residential section 20 acres good land, house has 8 large rooms, sleeping porch, gas lights, two cisterns, two wells, 11 necessary outbuildings, lot young fruit trees and berries. PAUPER LETTING.

October 2, 1922.

To the Public:

I will receive bids for the keeping of the paupers in three poor houses on or before October 25, 1922, as it was let last year at the regular term of the Fiscal Court. The Fiscal Court convenes this year on Oct. 26th.

The present contract for keeping the paupers is $100.00 per year for each pauper, and the contractor pays the county $100.00 per year for the rent of the poor farm.

TO REGISTRATION. CLERKS.

West Liberty, Ky., Oct. 2, 1922.

Those to whom registration books were delivered have been asked to return them several times, and if they fail to return them at once we will have to take a rule against you, as these books are the property of the State of Kentucky and have to be accounted for, and as the law was declared unconstitutional the books are not to be used.

So hoping that there will be no further notice in this matter and that you will return the books promptly.

Sincerely yours,

J. V. HENRY, Co. Judge.

The Cole Hotel had as its guests one day this week four shoe drummers, three selling for St. Louis houses and one for a Lynchburg firm. H. L. ROE Chas. Holbrook and A. R. Plummer representing St. Louis firms and Estelle Hitchcock the Lynchburg firm. And it was not a good day for some drummers, either.

The gas just gives down its milk at times, and we see that unless different conditions obtain we will have to get a gasoline burner for our line-type. We have been putting this off hoping that a pump would be put in to increase the pressure, but the cold weather will not wait on us, and it looks like a winter's cursing out of bally gasoline burner. We have been planning to get a gasoline burner that is said to be more satisfactory than the one we used last winter, but they cost $70, and unless a few more of you own one on your subscriptions pay up, we can't. See?

TO GRAVEL ROAD.

West Liberty, Ky., Oct. 18, 1922.

To the Public:

I have a letter from the chairman of the Road Commission stating that they will gravel the road from West Liberty to Index as soon as plans can be formulated for the work.

The surfacing of this road will be beneficial to people who have to travel over this road, and it will put about $40,000.00 in the county before the first of the year.

I want to say that all of the county officers are heartily in favor of good roads and are doing all in their power to have them constructed in this county as soon as possible.

I heard a man ask a gentleman if such and such a man was elected to be against good roads, and I spoke up and told him that he was not and that every county official was heartily in favor of good roads and will do all they can to get them, using the best of policy, which is honesty.

Yours very truly,

Byrd Wells.

On Wednesday, Oct. 11, Mr. Estlin Byrd and Miss Anna Laura (Rooney) Wells were married at the home of the bride's parents, Eld. A. O. Allison officiating.

The groom is the son of John Byrd of Caney creek, and is a young man of fine character and industrious habits. He was a soldier in the war and is well respected.

The bride is the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wells, of Wells Hill, and is a general favorite.

The Courier extends to the happy young couple its best wishes for a prosperous journey through life.

Sincerely yours,

Our Educational Troubles.

It has been our observation that if educational circles all is not said that college does not necessarily imply the requisite amount of common sense for a teacher. One of the rules of the State Board of Education is that principals of high schools must have a college degree. Towns like Salyersville do not have electric lights, water works, baths in all the rooms at the hotels but they do have as many of the comforts of life as the average citizen of the United States. The State Board sent teachers with college degrees to Salyersville, but they did not have the tact to "fit in," and as a consequence would have been failures had they stayed. But let the Salyersville Independent tell the remainder of the tale:

"On last Thursday about 12 o'clock this old town began to reel and rock. The shutters slammed and the glasses flew, even the preachers they tore through to see what it was. It was only two high school teachers from Georgetown. It was a man and his wife, the wife was the kleeke; she kleeke on the town, she kleeke on the streets, she kleeke on the buildings, she kleeke on the hotel because the eggs had their jackets on and the beds sagged in the middle, she kleeke on the board of education because it refused to pay their fare back home, she kleeke on our Superintendent because he didn't have things fixed right, she even kleeke on Fred Gullett for having loose plank on his walk, and, last but not least, she kleeke on the editor's bees because the house he lived in was not the house that Jack built, and said it was not fit for a decent person to live in. She saved the town hall and rubbed in with a sandstone. Her poor man tied up with a half-educated woman and kleeke from one end to the other and hen-pecked from Georgetown to Salyersville and back, and then some. We don't need cranks or Mrs. Hen-pecks, for we have enough of them. We want hoosters, not kleeke. If you can't hoost don't come to our town."

A FRIEND IN NEED A FRIEND INDEED

Writes Mrs. Hardee Regarding
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable
Compound

Los Angeles, Calif.—"I must tell you that I am a true friend to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have taken it off and on for twenty years and it has helped me change from a delicate girl to a stout, healthy woman. When I was married I was sick all the time until I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in bed much of my time with pains and had to have the doctor every month. One day I found a little book in my yard in Guthrie, Oklahoma, and I read it through and got the medicine. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and look eight bottles and used the Sanative Wash. I at once began to get stronger. I have got many women to take it just by telling them what it has done for me. I have a young sister whom it has helped in the same way it helped me. I want you to know that I am a 'friend indeed,' for you were a 'friend indeed' to me."

—Mrs. GEORGE HARDEE, 1043 Byram St., Los Angeles, California.

Let Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound be a "friend indeed" to you.

CAME BY CHANCE

New Yorker's Explanation of Origin of Ice-Cream Soda.

Customer Who Insisted on Cooling
Drink Credited With the Invention of the Popular Beverage.

This is the day's generation of the soda-fountain feeders. With prohibition has come the rapid rise of the sandwich section of the marble bar, the lunch that is quick but not free. The soda fountain has covered the country along with the car, the phonograph and the film. They have all been accepted, it seems, as among the greatest of life's safe improvements.

Of the whole lot, the soda fountain has shown the greatest recent change. An interesting sequel to the eighteenth amendment is a definite demand for the installation of a milk pump in the middle of every modern fountain. With the milk pump has come the urn and a demand for fresh-brewed coffee, for fresh orange juice, and for stacks of assorted sandwiches. The latest soda fountain has more attachments than an automobile.

But despite all these minor additions a soda fountain is still a soda fountain and not a restaurant, or a fruit stand, or a coffee counter. These have not interfered with its main mission. It still does its highest business in the sale of those original American concoctions commonly called soft drinks, remarks a writer in the New York Sun.

Not so long ago there was no such thing as an ice-cream soda. The pride of a first-class fountain was not in the number of its sirup pumps nor in its jars of crushed fresh fruit. Rather was rank gauged by the number of kinds of mineral water kept on draft. Plain charged water was not served out as vichy or seltzer or anything else a customer happened to ask for.

"The soda clerks of today don't know any better, most of them," said an old-timer. "They think all carbonated water is about the same thing."

"Why, one place on Broadway must have had eight or ten mineral waters on draft all the time. Vichy and Kissingen, Kaiser and Seltzer, Deep Rock, half a dozen others. They came in by the barrel, mostly from Saratoga."

"Every place else had, then, too. The older stores, the bar at the Hoffman house, the Fifth Avenue hotel, the Victorias, the Imperial, the Alhambra. It was the regular thing to take a couple of glasses of mineral water or soda, or even phosphate, which was then rated as a tonic, in the morning."

"This demand for an early drink was the thing that led to the discovery of ice-cream soda. Of course, Philadelphia claims that ice-cream soda was invented down there, and went so far as publicly to give Robert Green credit for starting it. They gave him the credit after he was dead. But they can hardly make a clear case, and I hold to the Eighth Avenue version of its invention. New York has just as good a claim."

"The thing was entirely accidental. Early in the morning a customer came into a lower Eighth Avenue drug store and asked for a glass of soda. The proprietor apologized because he had no ice, and offered a plate of ice cream instead."

"That was no substitute for the thing wanted. The customer wanted soda, and insisted that the ice cream be put into it if there was no ice available. That was done. The result was remarkable, and ice cream soda has been spreading over the country ever since."

"Sundines are a much later idea. The sale of them began, I think, by an effort to evade in a legal manner the old Sunday closing laws, when ice cream parlors were not open. Drug stores were generally not closed, and here ice cream was camouflaged and sold as a 'sundae.'"

"But nobody ever believed that sitting at a soda fountain would take rank as a great popular diversion all over the United States. In less than one generation that has happened. Times change."

Deadly Snake in London "Zoo."

Among the new arrivals at the zoo the most interesting is a species of snake known as the "Tree Cobra," according to the London Morning Post. It came from East Africa and is related to the cobra and other well-known venomous but harmless-looking snakes, and its bite is as deadly as that of any of its kindred.

The bones of the upper jaw, which carries the great fangs, are peculiarly modified, and in that respect as well as in having a pair of large fangs in the lower jaw, which adds to the tenacity of its grip, it differs from all its allies. It is an expert climber, and from its habit of living to a great extent in trees it is called the tree cobra.

"Tennis-Court Oath."

The "Tennis-Court Oath" was a solemn oath taken by the members of the national assembly of France in 1789, to the effect "that they would continue to meet for the dispatch of business wherever circumstances might require, until the constitution of the kingdom had been established upon sound and solid foundations." The oath derived its name from the royal tennis court at Versailles, where the assembly met on that occasion, and in the hall of the Menus Plaisirs having been refused them by Louis XVI.

Prayer.

More things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of. Wherefore, let thy voice rise like a fountain for me night and day. For what are men better than sheep or goats that nourish a blind life within the brain, if, knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer both for themselves and those who call them friend? For so the whole round earth is every way bound by gold chains about the feet of God.—Alfred Tennyson.
